Chess Junior – winning over children's hearts!

Chess Junior is the kid-friendly version of the classic strategic board game that everyone knows and loves. It was developed in order to help adults teach kids first steps how to play chess in a fun and laid-back way. With haptically designed game components, such as a sturdy game board made of 9 large robust puzzle pieces and wooden playing figures, even younger children can easily transfer the simplified starting positions from the instructions onto the board and start playing. The parent-child tutorial with explanations of 12 mini-games complements this set and makes it the ideal preparation game for chess.

Why mini-games?

At the beginning (when playing with all 16 chess pieces), children do not know exactly which piece to move and which goal to pursue. This can lead to a loss of interest in the game of chess. Mini-games are simplified chess situations with short playing times. At the beginning both players play with only a few pieces.

The Chess Junior-learning objectives are the rules of movement for the chess pieces, attack and counter-attack, cover, double attack, as well as stalemate and checkmate.
